

Altman's House Committee on Progressive Oversight

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

September 23, 2024

WESTFIELD, NJ - Today, Kean for Congress highlighted Democrat Sue Altman's desire to join the House Committee on Oversight and Accountability. While the admission is not particularly newsworthy, upon further review of the committee's membership, the alliances Altman seeks to forge become clear.

The Committee has best become known for its controversial progressive members such as Rep. Jamie Raskin and "Squad" members like Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, Cori Bush, and Ayanna Pressley - all whom Altman courts endorsements from. These figures are associated with some of the most polarizing positions in Congress, from calls to defund the police to proposals that critics say would crush our economy and lead to crushing tax hikes on middle-class Americans.

Altman's statements to align herself with these outspoken progressives underscores her commitment to a radical agenda. Her previous role leading the New Jersey Working Families Party, known for its extreme stances, is just a preview of what she would bring to Washington.

Let's look at some examples of the agenda and individuals Sue Altman wishes to follow in Congress: Reps. Jamie Raskin, Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, Cori Bush, and Ayanna Pressley.

Congressman Tom Kean, Jr. offers a clear contrast to Altman, in his leadership and alliances in Washington - centered on bipartisanship, cooperation, and rejecting the political extremes.

"Tom Kean Jr. has always been a public servant who works to find the common ground that solves real issues facing New Jersey residents. That's why he joined the bipartisan Problem Solvers Caucus, and stands-up to his party when the moment requires him to," said Kean MacLelland, Campaign Manager. "Ms. Altman seeks to join forces with some of the most radical voices in Congress, and will follow in lockstep with their far-left agenda. The Altman-Squad agenda is out-of-step with New Jersey and will be rejected by voters on November 5th."
